

Beyond Standardized Incidence: Assessing the Impact of Arsenic on Cancers by APC Model

連怡斌
彰化師範大學統計資訊研究所

Abstract

There is a famous saying goes KISS (acronym for "Keep It Simple and Stupid") in publishing medical research article. The result in this paper illustrate that sometime simple methods like standardized incidence rate may give really stupid results. Collaborating with statisticians and using more sophisticated methods is necessary.