Nonparametric Estimate of Spectral Density Functions of Sample Covariance Matrices

潘光明

Division of Mathematical Sciences,
Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Abstract

The density function of the limiting spectral distribution of general sample covariance matrices is usually unknown. We propose to use kernel estimators. It is proved that such estimators are consistent and have central limit theorem.