

A generalization of the Mantel-Haenszel tests to bivariate current status data

Kam-Fai Wong
Department of Biostatistics, Columbia University

Abstract

We develop a generalized Mantel-Haenszel test based on bivariate current status data. Asymptotic properties of the proposed test are derived and their finite sample performance is studied via simulations. The method is illustrated using a community-based study of cardiovascular epidemiology in Taiwan.